

A Few Examples of Plant and Animal Partnerships in N. American Forests

Cattail - a plant that requires wetlands to grow

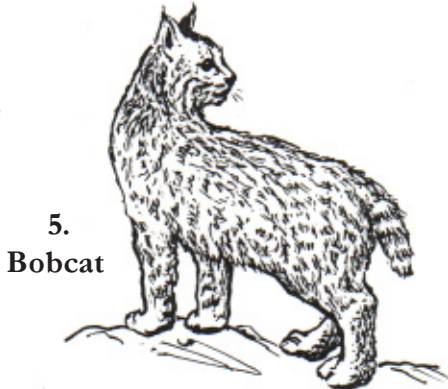

Hickory - a tree that produces seeds in armored shells /nuts.

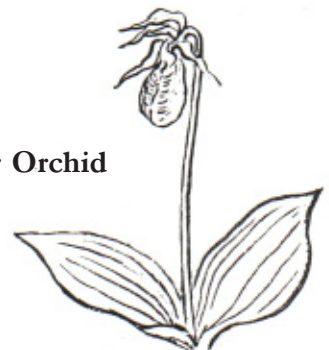

A tree whose saplings are often eaten by mice.
(The mouse is not the partner!)

A tree that can be prey to bark beetles

Lady's Slipper Orchid

A tree that produces berries

Edith Pucci Couchman © 2012

Please write the name or number of each animal next to the plant that (for the most part) it benefits...